actor and World War II bomber pilot.

Meyer was a fighter pilot in the Air Force and Marine Reserves from 1955-61. In 1974, he joined Cessna as executive vice president, and a year later he was named chairman and CEO. He led the development of a program that created more than 50,000 new licensed pilots.

He called the Hall of Fame induction the pinnacle of his career.

On Friday night, the hall presented its Spirit of Flight Award to the Apollo astronaut crews for their roles in the moon landing, moon walk and safe return to Earth.

White, who flew in the Air Force, was among the second group of astronauts selected. His first mission was as pilot for Gemini IV, the first long-duration flight for the Gemini program. White made America's first spacewalk on the mission in 1965, a 21-minute event in which he maneuvered on the end of a 25-foot tether using a hand-held gas gun.

White died Jan. 27, 1967, when a flash fire swept through their Apollo I spacecraft during a pre-launch test at Cape Kennedy, Fla. Virgil "Gus" Grissom and Roger Chaffee also perished in the blaze.

Stewart, a private pilot, enlisted in the Army in 1941 at the age of 33. He sought

Eileen Collins

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration credits Eileen Collins with the following:

STS-63 Discovery (Feb. 3-11, 1995) was the first flight of the new joint Russian-American Space Program. Mission highlights included the rendezvous with the Russian Space Station Mir, operation of Spacehab, the deployment and retrieval of an astronomy satellite, and a space walk. Collins was the first woman pilot of a space shuttle.

STS-84 Atlantis (May 15-24, 1997) was NASA's sixth shuttle mission to rendezvous and dock with the Russian Space Station Mir. During the flight, the crew conducted a number of secondary experiments and transferred nearly 4 tons of supplies and experiment equipment between Atlantis and the Mir station.

STS-93 Columbia (July 23-27, 1999) was the first shuttle mission to be commanded by a woman. STS-93 highlighted the deployment of the Chandra X-Ray Observatory. Designed to conduct comprehensive studies of the universe, the telescope has enabled scientists to study exotic phenomena such as exploding stars, quasars, and black holes. On STS-93, Collins was the first woman shuttle commander.

STS-114 Discovery (July 26-Aug. 9, 2005) was the Return to Flight mission during which the shuttle docked with the International Space Station and the crew tested and evaluated new procedures for flight safety and shuttle inspection and repair techniques. After a two-week, 5.8 million mile journey in space, the orbiter and its crew of seven astronauts returned to land at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

posting to a flying unit and was assigned to the U.K.-based 445th Bomb Group, first as a squadron operations officer and then as its commander.

Stewart flew 20 combat missions in B-24s, earning the Distinguished Flying Cross twice, the Croix de Guerre and the Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters.

Continuing his post-war service with the U.S. Air Force Reserve, he achieved the rank of brigadier general in 1959, retiring from active duty in 1968. He remained an American airpower advocate until his death in 1997.

The Aviation Hall of Fame was founded in 1962 in Dayton, hometown of the Wright brothers, and later was chartered by Congress. Wilbur and Orville Wright were the first inductees.

townwide assessment by herself and has asked for help," Marchese said. "But my understanding is that it has been done in-house in the past, so I think it can in the future."

In the 2002 revaluation, a group of volunteers took pictures of each parcel, which were then reviewed by Giardina, who affixed property values to each property.

Aside from the most recent revaluation in 2002, there were also townwide reassessments in 1996 and 1992.

In the 1992 revaluation, a citizens group argued against the results and ultimately convinced the town board to reject adoption.

Dozens injured in light rail crash

SAN FRANCISCO | Several dozen people were injured when two San Francisco light-rail trains collided Saturday afternoon at the West Portal Station, authorities said.

Forty-four people were taken to hospitals — three with what appeared to be severe injuries — when a San Francisco Municipal Railway L train rear-ended a K train at the boarding platform about 2:30 p.m., officials said.

"This is probably one of the largest casualty incidents in recent years (in San Francisco)," said Pat Gardner, a deputy chief with the San Francisco Fire Department.

Gardner said 20 people suffered moderate injuries. He described another 21 people as "the walking wounded." He said everyone who was injured remained conscious.

Witnesses said the west-bound L train barreled into the K train as it emerged from a tunnel connecting downtown San Francisco to the city's western neighborhoods.

The front of the L train was smashed, while the K train suffered less damage. The operator of the L train was among the three with serious injuries.

Shin San, 15, said she got a phone call from her sister, Celene, who was on the L when it hit the K train.

"She said she was on the L and heard a boom," she said. "She saw glass windows shattered and a guy got his ear cut."

Shin said her sister hit her head but did not suffer serious injuries.

Witnesses said more than a dozen people sat on benches along the boarding platform after the crash, some of them holding bloodied heads. Most of the passengers were adults, many of whom had spent a sunny and breezy afternoon downtown.

National Republican Congressional Committee, and the New York Republican Senatorial and Assembly campaign committees.

"He is a great asset that I've met several times," Reed said.

Hook owns a home on Cuba Lake, in Allegany County.

Reed also recently hired Tim Kolpien, of Corning, as part of his campaign team. Kolpien assisted Reed in his 2006 race for Corning mayor.

Normal Communications, of Monroe County, was also hired by Reed.

Reed said he has recently been interviewing to hire a financial director.

"A choice should be made very soon," Reed said.

Fund raising for the 16-month campaign is currently under way.

"We have received some funds, and sent out mail seeking funds," Reed said. "We have also tapped into several national organizations in an attempt to secure funding."

Reed has estimated he will need to raise about $2.2 million to hold an effective campaign.
