

Thanks To Congressman Eric Massa, 11 Million Children Now Have Health Insurance

Eric Massa understands that during these tough economic times, paying for health care can be particularly difficult.

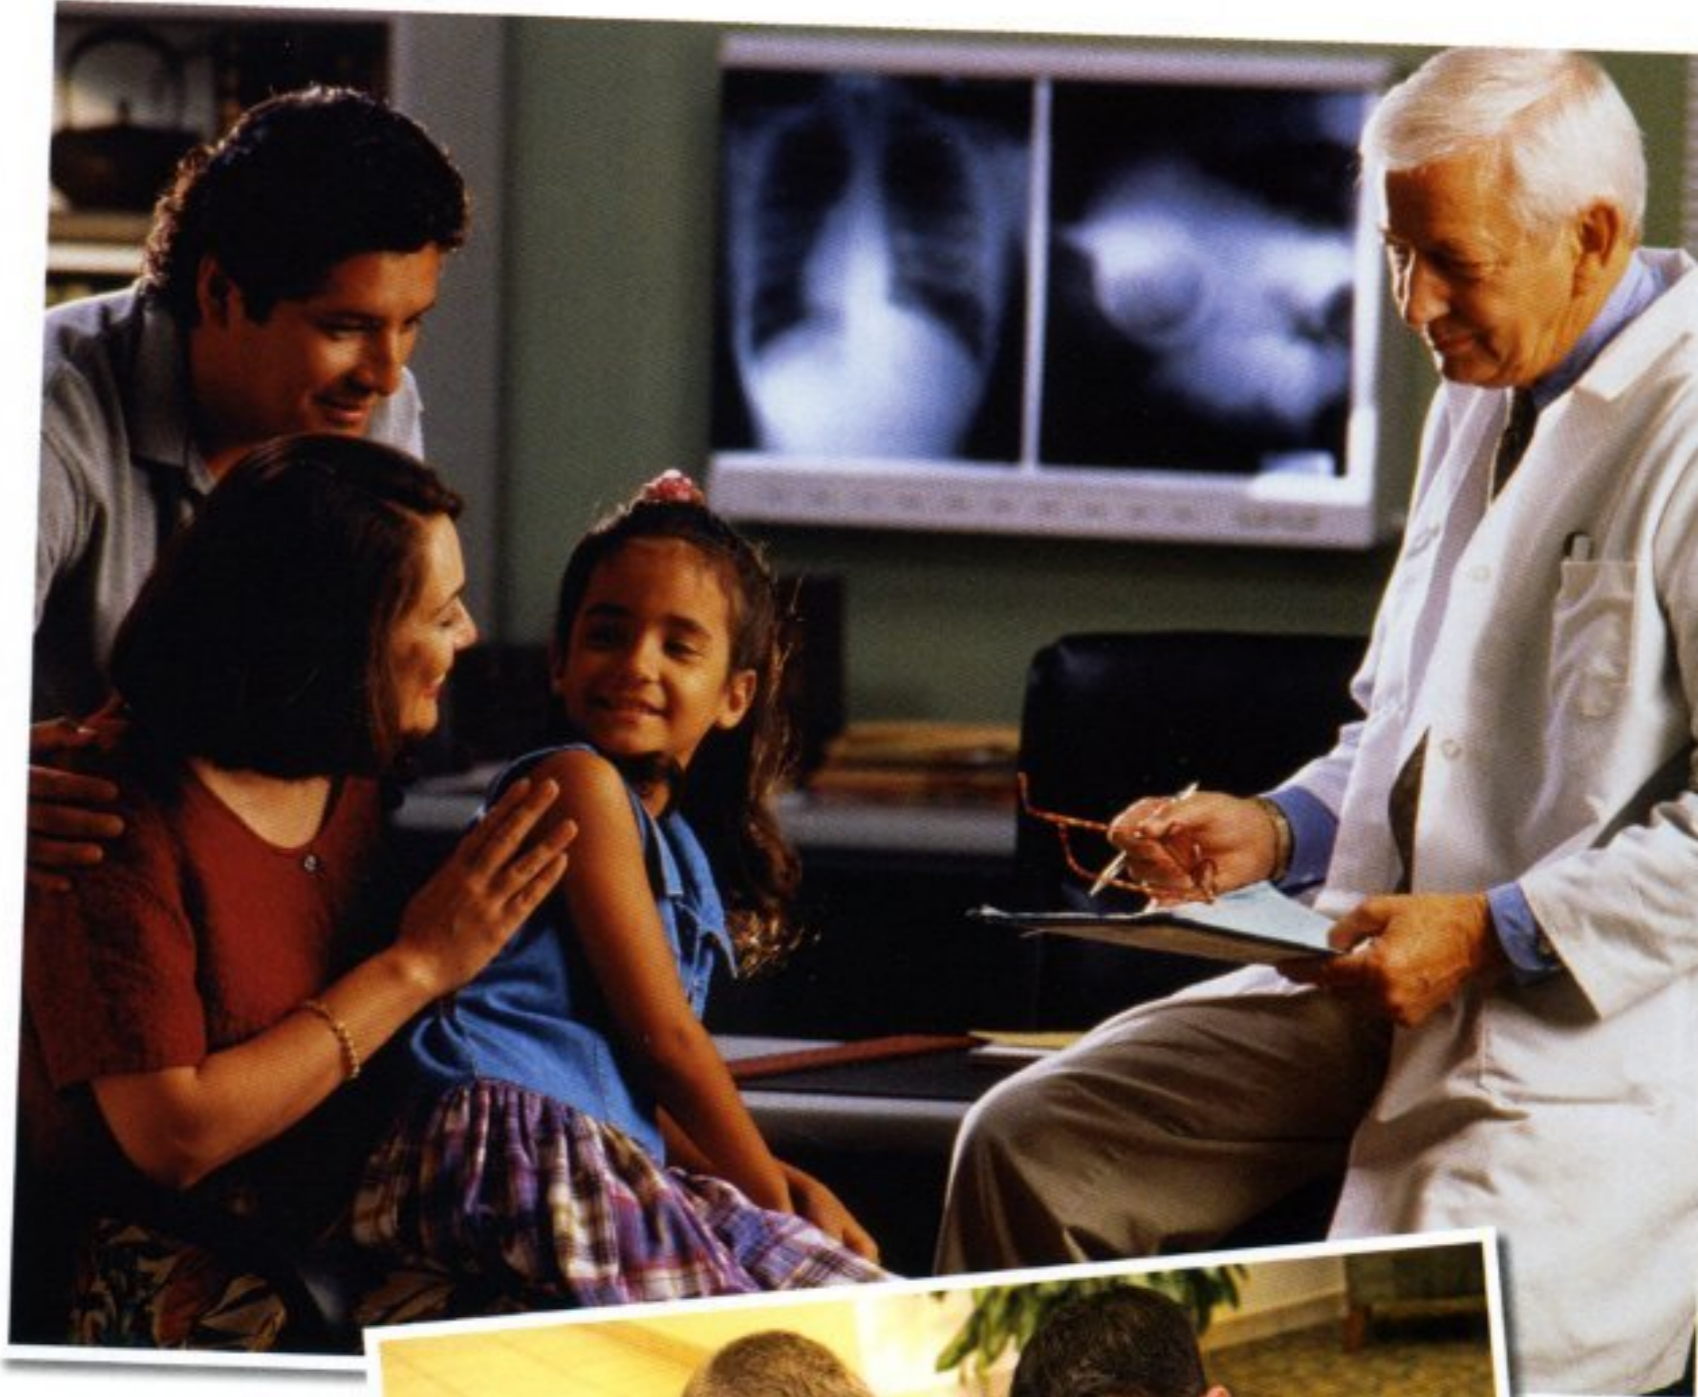

Many families cannot afford coverage and children often lose coverage when a parent loses their job.

That is why Eric Massa fought to provide 11 million children with health care coverage through the Children's Health Insurance Program.

So 11 million children will now get good medical care and their parents won't have to worry about them getting sick.

When patients with health insurance, young or old, go to a doctor's office instead of clogging hospital emergency rooms, it lowers health care costs and saves all of us money.

That's why covering America's children is such an important step toward reform that will make health care affordable for every American.

Call Congressman Massa today at 202-224-3121. Tell him thanks for insuring our kids, and to keep fighting to make quality, affordable health care available for everyone.
